Vincent has qualified experience and demonstrable expertise in complex and advanced corporate structures and commercial law. He is a well-read individual with interests in the fields of medicine, economics and social philosophy. Vincent is adept in a variety of practice areas including; Procurement Law, Public Private Partnerships, Cross Border Transactions, Private Equity and Dispute Resolution.

He is skilled at fast paced and precise research as well as concise document review. His motivation in dealing with clients is always to put them at ease and provide rational and pragmatic solutions to their problems. Vincent's proactivity has given him the temerity to always take up and complete otherwise challenging tasks with the ease of a maverick. He is a constructive team player who displays a passion for good governance and leadership to improve team productivity output.

Vincent is introspective and analytical, probably borne out of his chess playing habits and these qualities serve him well in his practice of the law. Over the years Vincent has been involved in several high profile cases including being part of the team that victoriously defended a power company in a public interest law suit with the potential damage of trillions in addition to the impending crisis it would cause to not only the client but also citizens and investors. Additionally, Vincent was part of the team that advised and equally defended a major oil corporation in a complex and advanced construction dispute involving a major pipeline against an adverse payment sought to the sum of USD. 126 Million.

Vincent's personal motto is Força, equilibri, valor i seny (Strength, equilibrium, valor and common sense), a real measure of the lawyer and the man.
